Time to Extend the Civil Service

To the millions of Americans who have no personal political stake in it the presidential campaign which ends today has been a period of confusion and uncertainty. But the voters will speak Tuesday; the decision of the majority shall govern the republic another four years—and while speculating on these future years we ought to give consideration to something that has been overlooked in the rapid expansion of the federal government. I refer to a broad extension of civil service.

Strategic Area to Be Used By Spain Only

Greeks Reverse Situation With 6 Miles Drive Into Albania

TANGIER, Tangier International Zone—(AP)—The Spanish wiped out the last vestige of international control in Tangiers Monday, taking complete charge of the strategic zone on the north coast of Africa on their own account.

The move consisted of an order by the high command of the occupying forces ending activities of the international control commission, the legislative assembly and the international information office.

We must consider, therefore, that the million-odd men and women drawn into federal service in recent years represent a permanent part of the structure of federal government.

But much of this new federal activity represents technical skill, or specialized experience. Government on this expanded basis assumes to do some of the work private business formerly did—and government must perform it with fair efficiency. Efficiency is impossible under the unstable conditions of 100 per cent political rule.

When the government expanded the postal service a generation ago it found that the postal service made it more difficult for the most efficient of all government agencies.

Furthermore, these men and women in the federal departments were created as human beings, with rights as well as privileges, with fears as well as duties.

If the federal government insists, as it does, that private employers and employees must provide for social security, then we as voters and taxpayers must also insist that government provide social security for its own folks that it has recently added.

And civil service is the original social security, applied to government workers.

What America has undertaken in recent years is superior to any political consideration.

And this work should be protected, by protecting the rank-and-file employees in the key bureaus so that they can carry on in future years regardless of campaigns.

British Land Troops
LONDON—(AP)—British official circles confirmed Monday that British troops had landed in Crete.

The size of the force which occupied the strategic Greek island south of the Greek mainland was not disclosed.

Greek Resist
ROME—(AP)—British bombers caused Rome's first air raid alarm since July 24 early Monday as they carried the air war to Naples for the second time in four nights and officials said they failed to reach the capital.

The alarm lasted one hour and 45 minutes. The high command said that fliers who tried to bomb Naples were met by a barrage of anti-aircraft fire which forced them to drop missiles in open country.

Stefani official Italian news agency, acknowledged that Italian troops were meeting stiff Greek resistance in the Ioannina region, at the lower end of the Italian front.

London Raided Monday
LONDON—(AP)—Londoners heard the scream of air raid sirens and the bark of anti-aircraft fire and the explosive thud of bombs late Monday afternoon after an interlude of the Nazi aerial siege lasting almost 24 hours.

Throughout Sunday night there was quiet. It lasted through most of the day but at tea time the uproar broke.

Star to Carry Election Returns in Mail Edition

As in past national campaigns The Star will not attempt to hold a local election party Tuesday night, since the Associated Press co-operates with the radio systems in broadcasting the presidential report.

But the Associated Press election wire will run as usual, and presidential returns will be reported up to midnight in the mail edition of The Star reaching rural subscribers Wednesday morning. The city edition, for Hope, Emmet, Prescott, Lewisville, Stamps and Bradley, will be dispatched as usual—but the mail edition will be held until midnight for election news.

Brother and Sister Are 4-H Club District Champs

GUY FOSTER

JUANITA FOSTER

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Guy Foster and Juanita Foster of Little River county, brother and sister, are the 1940 district champion 4-H club boy and girl in southwest Arkansas. The announcement was made during the annual state 4-H Achievement Day program Saturday, November 2, by W. E. Jernigan, state club agent of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

Prescott-Hope Meet Friday

Teams Will Be About Evenly Matched for Tilt

The Hope High School Bobcats, badly whalloped last week by the Blytheville Chicks, were to begin long workouts Monday afternoon in preparation for the Prescott game here Friday night.

Coach Hammons said Monday that all of Blytheville's touchdowns came as the result of long runs by Mosley, who was just too good for the Hope lads. The backfield showed much improvement over the previous week and much time will be devoted to developing a running attack.

Indications are that the game with Prescott will be about even as the Curly Wolves have fared just about as well as the Bobcats in season play. The Hope boys will probably have a small edge by virtue of the fact that they have played stronger teams than the Nevada lads.

Jimmy Simms, who returned to the lineup against Blytheville, was injured on the first play of the game and will probably see no action against Prescott.

Army Will Scan Draftees, Seeking Out Specialists

One of a series taking a draftee into Uncle Sam's new army.

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—John Q. Citizen, drafted for the army by his local board, thought when he sent them a questionnaire in which he told all about himself that he was through with papers.

But about the first or second day he is at an army reception center he reports to an officer who is armed with a tan-colored card with small holes punched on all four sides. These are for the automatic classification of the card. It becomes part of John's permanent record in the army.

John gives his full name, the army serial number which has been assigned to him, the birth-place of his father, mother and himself, how long he has been in this country if not born here, the date of his birth.

Then follows a whole series of questions as to his education and whether or not he has been in the military service.

If John Q. claims he's an expert at flapping and cooking in general, he'll be given a practical test.

Airliner With 10 Passengers Is Missing

Plane Appears Over Salt Lake City, Storm Prevents Landing

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—An airliner carrying seven passengers and a crew of three vanished Monday after arriving over the Salt Lake City airport at 5:40 a. m. CST.

United Airlines plane left San Francisco Sunday night was due in Salt Lake City at 4:30 a. m.

The big plane arrived over the airport at 5:40, but was unable to land because of heavy snowstorms.

Stanley Halberg, district traffic manager of United Air Lines, said the plane carried enough gasoline to keep it aloft at least until 9 a. m.

Gas Refunds Due December

Checks to Be Mailed to Natural Gas Consumers

LITTLE ROCK—R. W. Curran, Arkansas Division manager of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, said over the week-end that checks representing refunds to consumers under terms of an agreement reached with the state Utilities Commission will be mailed some time in December.

Thirty-five checks have been figured individual accounts dating back to January 1, 1938, to determine the amount due each customer. The company agreed to refund $500,000 to its 44,000 Arkansas consumers at the same time it announced a rate reduction estimated at $547,000 annually about a month ago.

Steve Atkins Named to Revenue Staff

LITTLE ROCK—The State Revenue Department Monday announced the appointment of Steve Atkins of Hope as assistant sales tax auditor for Hempstead county. Mr. Atkins will be assistant to W. W. Compton also of Hope who is the sales tax auditor assigned to Nevada and Hempstead counties. The appointment is effective as of November 1, 1940.

Housing Program Is Endorsed by Court

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Endorsing the government's low-cost housing program, the State Supreme Court Monday upheld the constitutionality of the 1937 act authorizing Arkansas cities to establish housing authorities for the slum-clearance programs to be financed by loans from the U. S. Housing Authority.

Woman Slayer Gets New Trial

Previously Given Death for Rice-Field Slaying

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The state supreme court Monday granted a new trial for Mrs. Annie Beatrice Henry, 24, former Shreveport woman who was convicted and sentenced to death in the rice field slaying of Joseph P. Calloway, Houston, Texas, salesman, on last Valentine day.

A companion, Finnon Burks, 23, also sentenced to death, was denied a new trial.

Mrs. Henry was convicted last March 30 at Lake Charles. Testimony introduced at her trial alleged that she and Burks held up and killed Calloway in a rain-soaked rice field near Lake Charles, after he had given them a ride.

The supreme court granted the woman a new trial on the grounds that evidence was prejudicial to her, and that she was not given a fair trial, particularly with respect to use of a special attorney from Texas acting for the prosecution.

County Council to Meet Here

Demonstration Club Program Here Wednesday

The following program has been announced for the Annual Achievement Program for the county council of Home Demonstration Clubs to be held in the courtroom of the new Hempstead county courthouse at Hope on Wednesday, November 6.

SERIAL STORY

BY W. H. PEARS

CHAPTER I

AT three minutes of 10, Bill Mentor stripped off his white apron and dashed for the door of the drug store. Old Julius Peskin darted from the back room like a spider after a fly.

"So now, Mentor, you pick your own quitting 'no'?" His dry, thin voice quivered. "You're paid to work from 4 until 10, not when the spirit moves you."

"But tonight's the first game of the season, Mr. Peskin. I'd like to see a few minutes of the last quarter." From nearly six feet up Bill watched the putty-colored bald spot on the little man's head turn crimson. "I've swept out and—"

"Slap things up in a hurry," Peskin grumbled. "If it wasn't for the ill-will I'd gain around the school, I'd yank my son Walton off the team and put him in your place here."

"Yes, sir," Bill said, edging toward the door. "It's 10 o'clock now, Mr. Peskin."

Peskin looked satisfied at having gained his rightful time, even in talk. "Go ahead," he snapped.

BILL was on his bicycle before the door slammed. He streaked through the clear autumn night, broad shoulders hunched over the handlebars, legs driving like pistons. Crossing Market street he saw a wide halo of light against the sky. He heard distant cheering and his heart leaped in response. The game was still on!

Bill sliced between parked cars, skidded to a stop. Inside City Sta-

Candidates to Make Final Radio Address

Old Quiet Tradition on Election Eve to Be Broken By Talks

By the Associated Press
Turbulent and unpredictable, the 1940 presidential campaign came to the end of the trail Monday amid a tumult of rival claims, political oratory and urgent last minute appeals for votes.

The crowded closing hours held little in keeping with the old tradition of a quiet election eve.

Roosevelt, back in Hyde Park, will broadcast a final message to the electorate Monday night, highlighting a two-hour (8 to 11 p. m. CST) nationwide radio program, arranged by the Democratic National Committee.

Willkie, winding up a strenuous marathon campaign, will broadcast his final word in an hour-long program over all major networks ending at 12 p. m. CST.

Election Eve
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The presidential campaign reached a pre-election Sunday, with an armistice in major speech-making and both candidates preparing last minute appeals to the electorate.

Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee, rested in New York city, after addressing a huge rally in Madison Square Garden Saturday night. He planned to remain in the city, cast his vote and receive the election returns there.

President Roosevelt, who spoke in Cleveland Saturday night, journeyed to Washington for a brief interval before proceeding to his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., where he will vote and wait the returns.

Both candidates planned radio speeches for Monday night, the eve of election day, with Willkie preparing a summary of what he considers the outstanding issues involved in Tuesday's voting.

In 1932 and again in 1936, the president made election-eve speeches, confined in each instance to urging that there be a big turn out at the polls. There was speculation, however, that this time he would say something more closely connected with the campaign. The executive also had a motor tour along the Hudson scheduled for Monday.

Confident of Victory
Party organization leaders had both made final pre-election forecasts, each claiming victory. Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, predicted a minimum of 427 electoral votes for the president. Joseph W. Martin Jr., the Republican national chairman, forecast a 324-vote minimum for Willkie. A majority of the electoral votes is 268.

Representative Ditter (Rep., Pa.), chairman of the Republican Committee estimated that his party would gain 60 to 70 seats in the house more than enough to give the Republicans control of that branch of congress.

Chairman Drewry (Dem., Va.) of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee said a survey "shows the House will remain strongly Democratic."

Fair Weather
The weatherman predicted for election day light rains in the North Atlantic and Lake states, mostly fair weather in the Ohio valley and generally fair in the South.

Party leaders on both sides are expecting about 50,000,000 ballots unless a turn in bad weather keeps many voters at home. In 1936, 45,846,817 persons voted.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

On the Presidents
Here are five questions about various Presidents of the United States. How many can you answer?

1. Two Presidents in the 20th century were commonly pictured wearing glasses. Who were they?
2. How many Presidents who held office in the 20th century were born west of the Mississippi river?
3. Two Presidents in this century had mustaches. Who were they?
4. Who was the most recent President with a beard?
5. Did Abraham Lincoln have a mustache?

County Cage Teams Battle

Columbus, Host to Spring Hill,
Wins Pair

Columbus high school Tigers entertained three cage teams from Spring Hill at the Columbus gymnasium, Friday night, November 1st, winning the two senior games by big one-sided scores but dropping the final tilt—the junior boys game, as follows:

Senior Girls—Lady Tigers 28;
Spring Hill 13; Columbus Tigers 32;
the visitors 13; and the junior boys of Columbus 9 and Spring Hill 15.
In the first game, Forward Griffin, with 12 points, and S. Woolsey, forward, with 7 markers, led the Tigers to victory over the sextet from Spring Hill whose Forward Cato, with 5 counters, showed up best for the visitors.
First half of this senior girls' game ended 14 to 4 in Columbus' favor and the final whistle sounded with the home team leading 23 to 7.
After this thriller, the senior boys' clubs of the two age-old basket ball rivals got under way, with the Tigers getting the "first blood" in the battle.
The first half closed with Columbus away out in front, 23 to 4, and the local outfit continued to out play the Spring Hill lads up until the third quarter at the end of which Cap.
Calvin Calvin was fouled out, his team then leading 30 to 9. But during the last quarter Coach Brown's boys out-pointed the Tigers, making 4 points to Columbus single field goals, the game ending 32 for Columbus and 13 for the visitors.
In the final fight the Spring Hill junior boys outclassed the young cats in every department, taking their game easily by a count of 15 to 9.
Tuesday night, November 5, the Columbus Tigers play host to three Saratoga Clubs at 7:00 o'clock.

Russians Fill Blanks on Map of Asia

MOSCOW.—(AP)—Blank spots on maps of the Far East have been filled in by expeditions which have completed charting the vast Asiatic territory of Russia.
Two-thirds of the Far East had been explored by topographers before the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The All-Union Arctic Institute and a Communist aerial photographic expedition reported they have finished the work.

Luncheon at the Girl Scout "Little House" honoring Miss Mary Estha Brooks of Birmingham, Ala. All members of the council, troop leaders, and Neutants are invited to attend.

Troop No. 5 of the Girl Scouts has Party at "Little House".

The members of Girl Scout Troop No. 5 had a gala party for a number of guests on Saturday evening at the "Little House." The setting was made unusually attractive by corn-stalks arranged on each side of the immense fire place, and brightly colored leaves placed through out the cabin with autumn berries and vines. Pine needles and pine cones served as a centerpiece for the table.

At the conclusion of many games the business served huge popcorn balls, fudge, and pop. The chaperons were the leader of the troop, Mrs. Clyde Monts, Mrs. esse Brown, and Mrs. H. E. Benson.

The Scouts and their guests included, Betty Jane Allen, Betty Ann Benson, Jessie Clarice Brown, Carolyn Hamilton, Alice Lorraine Heard, Barbara LaGrone, Alice Lile, Eva Jean Milam, Matilda McFadden, Dorothy O'Neal, Doris Urrey, Sophia Williams, Pat Williams, Aletha Mae Crosby, Sonny Brannan, Johnny Brannan, Alastair Guthrie, Billy Duckett, Billy Ed Bayse, Bill Conway, Glen Hard, Jack Duffie, and Charles Benson.

P. T. A. Council to Have Study Group on Tuesday

The regular Parent Teachers Association council meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the city hall. Miss Ruth Taylor will conduct a study group on "Consumer Buying." Each P. T. A. member is urged to attend.

Seventeen Members Attend Meeting of the Rose Garden Club

The Rose Garden club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. L. Kaufman with Mrs. A. B. Spraggins as co-hostess.

Seventeen members responded to roll call answering with their favorite fall flower.

A traveling vase contest will begin with the December meeting with points to be awarded for the best flower arrangement. Committees were appointed for the Christmas meeting in December.

The program on fall flowers was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Wender. She presented Mrs. B. M. Mason, who discussed the dahlias. Mrs. Hugh Jones told interesting facts about the Chrysanthemum and Mrs. H. O. Kyler discussed winter gardens.

An exhibition of indoor gardens belonging to various members of the club was an interesting feature of the program.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. M. M. McCoughlin Entertains Members of Friday Club

Mrs. A. K. Holloway and Mrs. E. P. Stewart were guests on Friday afternoon at the regular weekly meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. M. M. McCoughlin.

She had selected various autumnal flowers to decorate the rooms where bridge was played from two tables.

Mrs. E. P. Stewart was the high scorer for the guests and Mrs. Bob Franklin received the high score prize for the members.

At the conclusion of the games, the hostess served delicious refreshments to her guests.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. LaGrone Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Shults, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson were among the Hope people attending the Ouachita-Arkansas Tech football game in Arkadelphia on Friday night.

Mrs. H. M. Anderson, Mrs. E. H. Eullard and little daughter, Wanda Teresa, of Cherry Valley and Carl William Anderson of Addison, Texas were the weekend guests of the Rev. and Mrs. John Keith Gregory.

Miss Marjory Diddy has recently been named assistant to the advertising manager of the Lindenwood college publication, "Linden Leaves."

White House Mistress Must Be More Than Gracious Lady

By FANNIE HURST

Written for NEA Service

Eight years ago a long and shuddering gasp shook this country from coast to coast.

What—hol A personality instead of a housewife in the White House!

What have we here?

Then, with one gargantuan impulse, the composite tongue of the nation began to wag. "That First Lady's place is in the White House."

"What's the big idea, the wife of the President of the United States interesting herself in the United States?"

"Why doesn't Mrs. Roosevelt stay at home?"

"Stop her," cried the ladies of the land, who behaved as if London Bridge were falling down. "That First Lady's place is in the White House, seeing to it that the guests don't steal napping, entertaining cabinet wives and visitors from Duluth, deciding the color scheme of guest soap, and joining the Easter Egg Romp on the lawn."

Smashed it to smithereens

Shades-Of-the-Gentle-First-Ladies-of Administrations-Gone-By, what have we here? As a matter of fact, we have a First Lady who immediately solved the problem of guests stealing napping by substituting linen that did not bear the White House insignia. We have here a First Lady who does pass on the color scheme of guest soap, to entering visiting ladies from Duluth on a frequency scale that has probably never been practiced before, and whose Easter Egg activities are second to none for zest and conformity.

Nevertheless, that long shuddering gasp of eight years ago, which, it is true, has now subsided into a coast-to-coast purr, was real and disturbing to the American people.

Now, what has this personality-plus, whose interests range from bathroom curtains to affairs of empire, done to the tradition of First Ladies of our land?

Mr. and Mrs. Man-in-the-Street, (take it and like it, and I believe you do) she has smashed it to smithereens.

No "Fine Hand" in State Affairs

This is not to say that there will not, in the future, be First Ladies who will resort to the easy nativism of slipping back into just the role of gracious lady.

Inevitably those to follow in her illustrious shadow will be destined to the odiousness of conservatism. Down through the pleasant corridors of the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue will roll long reverberations of the name of the woman who, with reverence and humility, did many things because they "had been done," and with courage and initiative, did many things because they had not been done.

"That dates back to Eleanor Roosevelt," or "Eleanor Roosevelt will be the first one to do that," will be colloquial phrases on the tongues of generations of First Ladies to come.

So should they be grateful phrases on the tongues of a progeny that stands fair to profit because back here in the troubled years between 1932 and 1940, a personality who was housewife, humanitarian, gracious lady, putfinder, who was a many-faceted human being, dared to let her intelligent interests range from bathroom curtains to yogi, to social security, to wife and motherhood, to folk dances, to baby formulae, to housing, to coal miners, to equal suffrage, to peace, to rich men, poor men, beggar men, thieves, doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs; to ivory, apes, peacocks, sealing wax, airships, democracy, babies, spoon-bread, higher education, knitting, domestic service, adult education, and grandchildren.

The present First Lady isn't a "fine hand" in affairs of state, or in that circuitous exercise of feminine influence as we know it to exist in European politics. She is as forthright as a lad, more intelligent than intellectual, does things for simple, unadorned reasons such as the greater or good for the greater number.

When she errs, her mistakes are built on solid gold impulses and her successes outnumber them overwhelmingly.

This is a lady hard to beat. Her successors, whether they are to be disturbed by it or not, are never going to be allowed to forget that in nineteen hundred and thirty-two, she walked into the White House, put it in order, kept it in order, and did one of the most astonishing jobs in the history of First Ladies, or for that matter, in the history of American ladies.

She would not recognize intrigue if she met one on the street. Her basic motives are uncomplicated. She likes hot dogs for the pleasant democratic reason that she is like that.

The chances are she has never thought much one way or another about this housewife or personality business.

She happens to be both, and that is just one reason why I am voting her a third term.

One thing certain not to come to those who wait is the time they lose.

ther he can speak German, French, Spanish or any other foreign language. If so, he is asked how fluently he can speak and read it. He is tested later to see whether he has over-estimated his ability. A speaker of a foreign language might come in useful if the country were at war.

He is asked as to his main occupation in civilian life and whether he has, so to speak, a second and a third occupation. He tells of his hobbies, the favorite sports in which he engages, and whether he has any talent for public entertainment by singing, acting or playing a musical instrument.

He also tells what, if any, previous military training and experience he has had.

If he claims he is skillful at a trade, he will be given a practical test. One of the reasons is that the army is seeking occupational specialists like bakers, cooks, pharmacists, radio experts, etc.

Upon the results of the card and the tests, the army classifier will decide whether a draftee shall serve in a combat unit or as an occupational specialist whose services the army needs.

NEXT—Intelligence Test.

book. A smile touched his gray eyes as he greeted his son.

"Tough one, huh, fellow?" "Plenty," Bill agreed. "Buck, what do you think?"

Buck Mentor hunched big shoulders that seemed cramped by the invalid's chair, considered the question. Like Bill's, his hair was tar-black and cut crew fashion. His face was youthful, charged with suppressed energy. Only the shadowed, deep-set eyes told of his brooding. He was "Buck" to everyone, young or old.

"Bill, are you asking me to second-guess?"

"You can tell me, Buck."

He nodded, thumbing the bowl of his pipe. "Look, Bill, somebody used bad judgment tonight."

"Coach?"

Buck shrugged. "If he ordered that play . . . well, I doubt. That was a big-time razzle-dazzle. With plenty of practice a high school team might click it off, but . . ."

"That's what I thought."

"Bill, I wouldn't say this to another human soul. It would sound pretty bad coming from a man who was refused the job of coaching West. But if that play had gone off, the whole west side would be raving about Landis tonight."

Bill frowned. "You mean he was grandstanding?"

"It's possible. But remember, the Benton line had held once and might again. Landis or Calvert merely chose the spectacular rather than the sound way of trying for those yards."

"Buck, I heard Pat Hurly say we'd have won if you'd been coaching."

"Or, if you'd been calling the plays," Buck said softly. "Football needs boys like you, Bill. You've got the body and brains."

"Who taught me what I know?" Bill exploded. "And just let Landis boot a few more games . . ."

Buck dropped his hand to his son's shoulder. "We're not after another man's job, Bill."

"But, Buck, didn't the board say they might consider you?"

"Yes . . . Yes, they did." Eager glints jumped into Buck Mentor's eyes. "And I'd give my soul to tackle the job, Bill."

Ex-Hope Man Killed by Train

Ray E. Carpenter Lived Here Number of Years

Ray E. Carpenter, 50, brakeman, was killed almost instantly about 1 a. m. Saturday when he was struck by a moving boxcar in the Missouri Pacific Lines yards.

Mr. Carpenter and family lived in Hope for a number of years, leaving here in 1934.

Mr. Carpenter had just reported for duty and was in the company of several other employees when the accident occurred. An ambulance attendant of P. H. Ruebel & Co., which was summoned to the scene, said he was told Mr. Carpenter was hit by a freight car as it was being switched on another track.

Missouri Pacific officials declined comment pending completion of an investigation.

It was said one of the other men was jerked hastily from the path of the moving car by a companion. He narrowly escaped death.

The body was later taken to the Owens & Co. parlors, 127 Carpenter is survived by his widow, three sons, Carroll of North Little Rock, Charles, a student at the University of Arkansas Law School, and Elton Carpenter, New York City.

'Stuka' Jackdaws Killing Off Rare Birds

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas.—(AP)—"Blitzkrieging" jackdaws are threatening extinction for the few roseate spoonbills and snowy egrets on the North American continent.

The Audubon society maintains a sanctuary on an island in San Antonio bay for the spoonbills and egrets. This year the jackdaws started an aerial campaign against them. The big black birds single out a nest and a flock of them began swooping and diving around it. When the parents leave the nest the jackdaws gobble up the eggs.

Physician Aid in Local Boy Scout Drive

By DR. DON SMITH
At the request of Royce Weisenberger, I wish to express my appreciation of the Boy Scouts. It has been my privilege in the past years to try to teach some of these boys the principles of first aid to the injured and how to act in an emergency of most any kind.

In a great many instances I was surprised at the knowledge these boys had acquired. I think it is one of the best boys organizations in existence because, if a boy is thoroughly drilled in the principles of the Boy Scout he is not apt to go wrong.

Red Cross to Begin Drive

Aid Program Necessitates Larger Contributions

Five years ago the American Red Cross greatly expanded its first aid program to combat the growing national menace to accidental death and injury by establishing highway first aid stations throughout the country.

There are now more than 6,000 of these stations and mobile units from coast to coast and they are increasing daily. Now the aid to war-torn refugees in Europe and aid to British children evacuation has greatly increased the cost of maintaining these two and many more highly important services.

For the continued support of this work, as well as many other services which the Red Cross provides for the safety and welfare of our people, it is necessary to enroll more members to this organization than ever before.

The annual roll call drive, throughout the state, will get underway November 11 and will continue through November 30. Mrs. Lloyd Spencer, local chairman, and other workers in Hope and Hempstead county, urge that everyone join this aid-giving organization by giving liberal contribution when the drive begins.

A weak, run-down condition often gives a foothold to functional dysmenorrhea, causing much periodical distress from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain for women. CARDUI so often helps in such cases, for it sharpens appetite, boosts flow of gastric juices; so improves digestion, helps build physical resistance. CARDUI, if taken a few days before and during "the time," also helps to relieve periodical distress. Used 50 years.

Far out in the Pacific on November 5 there will be a balloting which may lead to addition of a 49th state to the Union.
While people on the mainland are waiting for final returns of the Presidential vote, Hawaii's 415,000 will be just as interested in the outcome of a plebiscite to determine whether it is the desire of the majority that their islands be admitted as the 49th state.
Hawaii has been a territory of the United States for 40 years. Its citizens are citizens of the United States and its Federal taxes go into the United States treasury.
With a few exceptions, the government of Hawaii today functions as does the government of a state. Principal exception is basic in that the Congress of the United States can determine the form of government for the territory.
Hawaii has no representation in the electoral college. It does not elect its governor, and its representative in Congress is merely a delegate with the right of debate and introduction of bills but no vote.
Laws Can Be Voided
Hawaii has a legislature consisting of 15 senators and 30 members of a lower house. Congress can void laws passed by this legislature, but never has.
The governor is appointed by the President.

Should Hawaiians vote for statehood, the next probable step would be action by the legislature to have the expression formally relayed to Congress. Approval of Congress is necessary for admission to statehood.
Should Hawaii be admitted, it would be the first new state since 1912, when Arizona joined the union. It would be the first time statehood had been granted a territory separated from the mainland. (Hawaii is 2,100 miles from San Francisco, four and a half days by steamship.) Total area of the territory is about twice the combined size of Delaware and Rhode Island.
Sugar production is the leading industry, amounting more than a million tons annually. Pineapples are second in importance among the islands' products.
The November 5 plebiscite was ordered by a joint congressional committee as a condition to further consideration by Congress of Hawaii's frequent demands for statehood.
Democrats and Republicans on the islands have indicated their support of the statehood move, but there is a strong undercurrent against a change of status.
Opponents of statehood argue that the large proportion of residents of Oriental ancestry would control island government. Others charge that admission of Hawaii as a state would weaken United States defenses in the Pacific and increase the costs of local government.
Proponents counter with statistics to show that no single racial element ever voted as a bloc and point out that in time of war the government would exercise the same authority over states as territories.
In any event, the question won't be settled by the plebiscite. Congress is the final authority.

Answering a Mail Order

1940 Census Shows 157,895 Japs in Hawaii

WASHINGTON — Answering a mail order.
T. D. S. Alhambra, Calif.— According to the 1940 census, and this figure is brand new, there are 157,895 Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands. How many of these are subject to registration for selective service, it is impossible to say now, although I asked estimates from the army, navy, state and justice departments, selective service headquarters and the census bureau.

Other departments referred me to this last, but census officials say they do not have the Hawaii figures broken down yet and point out that they probably would not have before the October 28 Hawaiian draft registration (in the territories and insular possessions it did not take place at the same time as in the United States) reports are made to selective service.

Due to the peculiar conditions of naturalization in the islands, it is impossible to make any estimate on the number of Japanese who might be called to military training for Uncle Sam.

In 1930, there were 139,631 Japanese in the islands: 37.9 per cent of the total population. The present number is 37.3 per cent of the total population. In 1930 the census figures showed 60,889 Japanese 21 years or older who were aliens. Under the selective service law, the alien group must register but are automatically put in Class 4 and would not be called for training.

However, what has happened to this 60,000 or to the children who have become 21 since 1930 is impossible to guess. Many may have gone back to Japan. Persons who have spent years in the islands tell me that there are a great number of well-educated Japanese youths both in Hawaii and along our western seaboard who are returning to Japan. These Japanese believe there is far greater opportunity for educated persons in their own dominant, expanding civilization than as members of a minority in a civilization not their own.

On the other hand, it is possible that a great many young men, not wishing to serve in the Japanese army, have, on becoming 21, exercised the option permitted when born under the American flag, and declared themselves citizens of the United States.

Regardless of these "ifs", however it is certain the army can have a great number of Japanese young men in selective service training if it wants them.

That last "if" must be inserted because in the last analysis it is up to the army whether it takes a man. A selectee could have all the physical and mental requirements and be without dependents but if army officials felt the best interests of the country would not be served by training him, he would have no chance of getting in.

Many Japanese served in the United States army in the World war and undoubtedly there will be many in selective service both in the United States and in the islands before the five-year program is completed. It is only the estimated number that now seems to be stumping the departments here that usually are so ready and willing to give out statistical information.

Along the road in search for the answer to this query, I came upon an amusing story about a Japanese who came to this country many years ago, set up business and prospered. He married an American woman, had a son. When the boy was just 21, his parents were killed in an accident. He inherited a great fortune but in order to take full advantage of it, he had to return to Japan and declare his citizenship there. Immediately, he was drafted into the army but although a fine physical specimen, he hardly was mustered in before he was mustered out. The army would have none of him. The reason: he couldn't speak Japanese.

There are about 28,000,000 dogs in the United States.

Ill Wind Blows for Politicians

Politicians in for Trouble After Nov. 5

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — It may be just a little election-time political twister, as some observers here insist, but if those are real straws that I see in the wind, certain politicians are in for a tornado of trouble after November 5.
Why AFTER November 5? That's a good Republican question in some quarters, but the Democratic answer is that, except for the primaries held in recent months, there have been no elections to investigate since 1938 and it would have been utterly impossible to complete sleuthing and prepare indictments before election.
Even if they could have got the cases ready, no court could have moved fast enough to try them. Suppose the persons charged were innocent. Think what injustice would have been done then to persons running on the party ticket of those who had been charged.
Committees Busy
That's the explanation given, but to get back to those straws.
1. A Senate campaign investigating subcommittee, with Senator Adams (D-Colo.) as chairman, heard testimony in Jersey City, N. J., where Mayor Hague's Hudson county political machine has been on the griddle for years.

2. Another Senate subcommittee, with Senator Hill (D-Ala.) as chairman, heard testimony in Chicago, where the Kelly-Nash machine, captained by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, has also been under a crossfire of charges from big political guns.
3. Numerous complaints of violations of the Hatch act, the Corrupt Practices act, and civil rights statutes have been filed with the Department of Justice. These are purporting to run the whole gamut of election and campaign violations, from minor infractions which might result in Federal employees losing their jobs to the outright stealing of elections by means that could send offenders to the penitentiary.

4. Attorney General Robert H. Jackson has publicly declared an out-in-the-open war on election frauds and all violations of the voting and campaign statutes now on the books, and backed it up by appointing Maurice M. Milligan, U. S. district attorney at Kansas City, Mo., as field general for the drive. Milligan is the 55-year-old attorney who prosecuted Tom Pendergast and sent that longtime boss of Kansas City politics to the penitentiary. Sixty-three other defendants who stood trial were convicted; 36 others pleaded guilty and 169 threw themselves on the mercy of the court.
Some administration critics say this is just pre-election window-dressing front to offset charges that machine politics really aren't frowned upon. I wouldn't know about that, but if certainly is a tall guess that even if the tempest is started in the political tempest, it has a chance of getting out of hand and becoming a good stiff blow, if not a tornado.

In the first place, on those Senate committees both the Republican and Democratic parties are represented. If charges against the persons investigated are substantiated, they're not BOTH going to sit quietly by and let the breeze die down.
In the second, if these complaints filed with the Department of Justice are verified, they are matters for the courts, and the Federal courts don't hold their sessions and deliver their verdicts behind closed doors.
In the third, Mr. Milligan has tasted blood, is ambitious the ran for the senate but was defeated for the nomination by the incumbent, Senator Truman, in a stiff three-cornered battle, and is considered by friends not to be the kind who would take his appointment lightly.

FEMALE PAIN

Women who suffer painful, irregular periods with nervous, moody spells due to functional causes should find Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound simply marvelous to relieve such distress. Pinkham's Compound is made especially to help such weak, tired women to go smiling thru difficult days. Over 1,000,000 women have reported remarkable benefits. WELL WORTH TRYING! Any drugstore.

His Coughing Spell Pays $500 Dividend

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(P)—Ten-year-old Paul B. Neilus, Jr., has caught up "about $500" for his parents.
The boy swallowed a tooth recently. Doctors here were unable to find it out so Paul and his father hoped a Philadelphia-bound plane for bronchoscopic treatment there.
As the youth was being prepared for the operation, a coughing spell seized him—and the tooth came up.
The operation, which would have cost about $500, was cancelled.

"NO" must be our answer to Amendment 36!

The reason for this is clear to any person who will think about it for a second: Amendment 36 (Rotenberry Old Age Pension Amendment) DEFEATS THE VERY PURPOSE MOST PEOPLE WOULD ORDINARILY BELIEVE IT TO ADVOCATE! It has been suggested, for example, that the amount paid to each pensioner monthly might be $25, but to provide an estimated 116,834 persons—many of whom are not now in need of assistance—with $25 a month would require $35,050,200—and the ENTIRE ANNUAL INCOME OF THE STATE FROM ALL SOURCES IS ONLY $46,000,000.

And on a dozen other points adoption of the Rotenberry Old Age Amendment would leave our state worse off than at present! Arkansas and its people don't want a pension program at such a cost. Vote AGAINST Amendment No. 36 when you go to the polls!

AMENDMENT NO. 36 IF PASSED WOULD:

1. Prevent aged from receiving present amounts!
2. Destroy present Welfare Dept. system!
3. Take 40% of annual sales tax returns!
4. Wreak havoc among our rural schools!
5. Give lion's share of benefits to large counties!
6. Suspend certification of WPA workers!
7. Wipe out aid to dependent children!
8. Cripple present free textbook program!
9. End distribution of free Food Stamps!
10. Fail to qualify with Federal matching of funds!
